

Nora

A memory worth keeping That rainy train ride when every connection failed and somehow it became the best afternoon of the trip.

You made a difference.

You were the first person to say “we can figure it out” and then actually make everyone believe it.

Jo

A memory worth keeping
The kitchen-table brainstorm with too much coffee, terrible sketches, and the idea that finally worked.